JURY STILL OUT IN VANATTACASE

Up to Late This Afternoon No Verdict Had Been Reached in "Bootlegging" Trial.

DISAGREEMENT SEEMS LIKELY

Witnesses Tell of Finding Gallon Jug of Whiskey in Rooms of Defendant Week Ago.

The jury in the case of the state against John Vanatta, charged with the illegal possession of liquor, was still out at four o'clock this afternoon and a disagreement seemed likely. The case was given to the jury at two-fifteen o'clock.

Vanatta was arrested last Saturday following disclosures made the Wednesday preceeding when the police raided rooms of Newton and Ed Casey over Roth's pool room. In Vanatta's rooms, adjoining those of the Caseys, a gallon jug two-thirds full of whiskey was found. The evidence was completed before noon and the arguments heard this afternoon.

Charles Frank, agent for two express companies, was the first witness for the state. He told of numerous shipments to Vanatta. He stated that the packages weighing twelve and fifteen pounds were delivered to the Vanatta rooms and also that Vanatta called for some of the packages. It was brought out on cross-examination that as far as Frank knew the room occupied by Vanatta, over the Roth pool room, were Vanatta's home.

Chief Rosencrance told of the raid on the rooms of Newton Casey and of Vanatta. It was in this raid that the gallon jug, two-thirds full of whiskey, was found and which was introduced in evidence to the jury. Chief Rosencrance stated that there was more or less traffic up and down the stairs, but was unable to state whether the traffic led to the Casey rooms or to the Vanatta apartment.

Chief Rosencrance stated that he had known Vanatta for about two years and that in this time he had no regular occupation, although he understood that he was a common gambler. He told of the time Newt Casey was serving a sentence in jail and declared that traffic up and down the stairs continued just the same. On cross-examination it was stated that Eddie Casey, son of Newt Casey, occupied the rooms during the time his father was in jail. Chief Rosencrance also stated he had seen several men coming from the Vanatta rooms.

Marion Finney, driver for an express company, also testified for the state. He told of delivering packages to the Vanatta room. He stated that he never had witnessed any men drinking in the room. He estimated that he took twenty packages there in the last sixty days, but admitted that this was only a guess on his part.

M. V. Spivey, B. F. Miller and Thomas M. Green testified as to Vanatta's occupation. Mr. Spivey, stated that he knew very little about him and as far as he knew Vanatta was not employed. B. F. Miller did not even know Vanatta. T. M. Green stated that Vanatta was not employed and had the reputation of being a gambler.

The defense introduced only out witness, that being August Roth proprietor of the pool room and renter of the room occupied by Vanatta. He testified that Vanatta was employed by him in his pool room at a salary of $5 a week and that he was given his room rent free. He stated that the room rent went in as part of his salary. Mr. Roth testified

CATCHES HIS ARM IN CORN SHREDDER

Harry Weaver, Living Northeast of Falmouth, Sustains Painful and Dangerous Injury Today.

ARM IN PLASTER PARIS CAST

Harry Weaver, living northeast of Falmouth, sustained a painful and dangerous injury to his left arm this morning when it was accidentally caught in the knives of a corn shredder. The flesh was torn and lacerated from the elbow to the wrist, but no bones were broken. The attending physicians have hope of saving the arm and this afternoon placed it in a plaster paris cast.

This is the first corn shredder accident of the season reported in Rush county. Clarence Hamilton lost three fingers when his hand caught in a corn shredder Tuesday afternoon while he was working on a farm north of Connersville.

LOCAL ALLOTMENT OF SEALS IS 50,000

If That Number of Red Cross Stickers Are Sold in County This Year, $500 Will be Realized.

$375 OF IT FOR LOCAL WORK

It was announced today by Dr. W. S. Coleman, president of the Rush County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, that Rush county's allotment of Red Cross Christmas Seals this year would be fifty thousand. The sale will be started all over the United States immediately after Thanksgiving.

If Rush county is enthusiastic enough about the efforts being made to stamp out tuberculosis to purchase fifty thousand of the little stickers, $500 will be realized from the sale and seventy-five per cent of the sum, or $375, will be for use in the anti-tuberculosis work in the county. It has not been determined yet who will be in charge of the sales in the various divisions of the counties.

TO CURB DEALING PEACE IS RESULT IN INTOXICANTS OF ACQUAINTANCE

City Council Passes Two Ordinances Designed to Stop Traffic in "Dry" Rushville.

LICENSE FOR BREWERY AGENT

Second Measure Provides Fee Shall be Paid by Traveling Salesmen Selling Liquor.

A new thing in the way of "dry" legislation was passed last night by the city council when two ordinances fixing a license fee for brewery agents and whiskey salesmen were introduced and passed under suspension of rules. One ordinance applies to resident agents and the other to the transient.

The first is "an ordinance to license distilleries, breweries and depots or agencies established in the City of Rushville by a distillery or brewery, or any person, persons, firm or corporation engaged in selling intoxicating liquors, fixing the license fee and providing penalties for the violation thereof." Under this ordinance the license fee is established at $500 a year and anyone found guilty of violating the ordinance shall pay the sum of $250 for each offense.

The ordinance provides that any such distillery, brewer, person, persons, firm or corporation in such city, shall make written application to the mayor and the application must be accompanied by the $500.

The second ordinance aims at the traveling salesmen and solicitors and is "an ordinance prohibiting the soliciting and taking orders for spirituous, vinous, malt or intoxicating liquors without first having procured a license therefor, prescribing the manner and method of procuring license, and providing penalties for violation thereof."

In this ordinance the license fee is established at $25 and the penalty is placed at $25 for each and every day the ordinance is violated.

Both ordinances were passed without any discussion and they will become laws as soon as published two weeks as provided by law. The first publication was today. It was stated to the council that the ordinances were believed to be constitutional and in case a fight is made on the two laws the city will back its contention in the courts. The new ordinances are aimed to stop the shipment of intoxicating liquors into the city. The council hardly hoped to collect a cent from the ordinances, but will curb the handling of intoxicants.

Talk of a compromise between the city and the two gas companies in the matter of rates was heard last night. The Public Service Commission has established the rates of both the Peoples Gas Company and the Central Fuel company at thirty cents a thousand cubic feet. Under the terms of the proposed compromise the city is to accept this rate and amend the present ordinances governing the two companies to read thirty cents a thousand cubic feet instead of fifteen cents.

T. M. Green, appearing before the council and speaking for the Peoples company, stated that this arrangement would be satisfactory and in turn the city was to drop all litigation against the gas companies and the Public Service commission. Mr. Green stated that the Peoples company would sign a written agreement to accept the amended ordinance to the company.

The city officials believe that they have fought the gas rate increase as

Serenity of Conscious Comes Through Knowing God, Declares Evangelist at U. P. Church

FOUR ADDITIONS AT CHRISTIAN

J. H. O. Smith Says Some Men's Business Depend Upon Number of Devil-Possessed People

Peace of mind comes only through acquaintance with God, the way of reconciliation being by Jesus Christ, was the declaration of the Rev. S. R. Jamieson, the evangelist who is conducting the meetings at the United Presbyterian church. He spoke Tuesday night on the theme, "Acquaintance With God." He defined becoming acquainted with God as knowing Him as a friend. He said the average man believed in the existence of God, but that was acquaintance.

"What we Think of Christ" will be topic of the sermon by the Rev. Mr. Jamieson tonight. A continuation of a presentation of the "precious things" of the Epistles of Peter, started Tuesday afternoon, was the program this afternoon.

The revival at the First Baptist church will in reality be closed Sunday night, but no more services will be held this week after Thursday night. There was a very good attendance last night, but no more additions were reported.

The Rev. J. H. O. Smith, evangelist at the Main Street Christian church, will speak tonight on the subject, "What Shall I Answer God?" The singing evangelist, the Rev. H. H. Saunders, will sing, "Nothing But Leaves."

There were four more converts at the Christian church Tuesday night. The numbers of additions in the revival which has been in progress little more than a week is now thirty four. The auditorium of the church was crowded Tuesday night.

"Saved From Suicide," was the topic of the Rev. J. H. O. Smith at the Christian church last night. He said:

"There was a Divination corporation in Philippi. A poor devil-possessed girl was their source of revenue. She followed Paul and Silas, crying out 'These men are servants of the Most High God who show unto us the way of salvation.' Paul cast the devil out of her. The divination syndicate saw that the source of their 'game' was gone and they secured the arrest of Paul and Silas upon the charge that they were troubling the city.

"There are men whose prosperity depends upon the number of devil-possessed people there in the community where they do business. The gospel of Christ always makes trouble for devils and bad men. Jesus cast some demons out of a man and the authorities requested Him to leave. The devils had gone into some hogs and the hogs committed suicide. In that community a hog had more value than a man."

"The divination combine at Philippi lost the hope of gain when the devil went out of the girl. Two million boys are needed, every five years, in America to keep the liquor business going, and yet there are men who say that to vote liquor out will ruin business. A big brewer was asked what about the boys? He replied, 'To hell with the boys.' I say to hell with any business that damns men for time and eternity. I know a woman who was prominent in church and society circles who rented property in which a saloon was kept who refused to sign a lease stipulating that no

TAKE HAND IN CASE OF DEFECTIVE BABY

Chicago Officials Will Investigate if Infant Whose Life May be Saved by Operation Dies.

DOCTOR REFUSES TO OPERATE

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 17.—An official police investigation with possibly subsequent action by state authority, will be made if the defective baby of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bollinger dies without an operation.

This was decided upon this afternoon at a conference attended by Chief of Police Tealey, Coroner Peter Hassman, Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson and Assistant Corporation Counsel Clifford Rowe.

Sonn-el Rowe ruled that there is no law by which officials can force physicians to operate on the baby to save its life. He ruled, however, that Commissioner Robertson can refuse to issue a death certificate. Robertson said he would refuse the papers. In this event Coroner Hassman will be automatically compelled to investigate the child's death.

Dr. H. J. Haiselden, in charge of the case, upon being informed of possible official action reiterated his decision "to let nature take its course."

CAN'T HOLD OUT MORE THAN A DAY

Serb Town of Monastir is in Danger of Being Wiped Out by Advancing Bulgarians.

INHABITANTS ARE IN TERROR

By William G. Shepherd.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Salonika, Greece, Nov. 17.—The whole Serb population of the region about Monastir is fleeing before the coming Bulgarians. Monastir itself is being emptied rapidly. The refugees number thousands.

Wild terror of the Bulgars has spread among them by frightful stories from the country the invaders have already swept.

The prefect at Pilet, twenty-five miles north of Monastir, telegraphed with the enemy almost in the town's outskirts, that hundreds of girls had taken refuge there from the surrounding district after being subjected to violence by the Bulgars. Apparently they were about to fall again into the invaders' hands.

Monastir can hold out a day at the utmost; then it, too, will be doomed unless the allies arrive.

HER VIEWPOINT THAT OF MOTHER

Mrs. Stella C. Stimson Attacks Liquor Traffic From Standpoint of Love of Children.

TALKS TO TEMPERANCE FOLK

As Much as Mothers Crave Beauty, She Says, Their Love For Their Offspring Comes First.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Liquor was attacked from the mother's standpoint of love of children and lover of beauty by Mrs. Stella C. Stimson, who addressed today the state temperance convention here.

When Mrs. Stimson—five feet tall and weighing all of 100 pounds—took the platform, there was a gasp of surprise from those who had not before seen her, but who knew her as the woman whose activity swung the delegates of the Federation of Clubs to Mrs. Clarke Fairbank of Fort Wayne for president, and who now is the subject of an attack throughout the state that promises to stagger and possibly disrupt the woman's Franchise league of Indiana. Only one other woman addressed the convention during its two-day sessions—Mrs. Calla J. Vayhinger, president of the W. C. T. U.

The speaker from Terre Haute did not refer to the opposition which is trying to force her from the board of the Franchise League, and which she asserts is inspired by the non-church and the pro-liquor forces. She concluded with a plea to the Indiana fathers to vote at the primaries and at the election for legislature a state-wide prohibition law.

Mrs. Stimson termed the liquor business "ugly." She said it was not fully understood even by thoughtful men and women that woman's love of beauty in home and civic environment and for personal adornment is "as God-given as the sex impulse in a man."

"My own city's (Terre Haute) enormous liquor expenses—no larger than any other city's of its size—is estimated at $2,500,000 yearly. Imagine the beauty possible in a home life if this sum were spent in the Terre Haute stores for home furnishings and clothes."

But much as mothers crave beauty, the welfare of her children come first, said Mrs. Stimson. "Mothers want prohibition," she said, "because the health and morals of their sons and daughters are involved. They have been told that only the young men who have never touched liquor have perhaps escaped the defilement of the social evil. They want prohibition because it means less taxes for criminal court expenses and more money for better schools."

ASKS $300 DAMAGES IN EACH OF TWO SUITS

Marshall Green Files Action Against Big Four Railroad, Alleging Loss in Live Stock.

ONE HOGS: OTHERS CATTLE

Marshall Green filed two damage suits against the Big Four railway this afternoon, demanding $300 in each case. One suit is based on the shipment of our car loads of cattle, numbering 59 head from Carthage to Chicago. It is alleged that because of the negligence of the railway company in delaying the shipment the cattle lost sixty pounds each in weight. This shipment is alleged to have been made August 29, 1914.

The other suit alleges practically the same thing except that Green shipped a car load of hogs numbering 80 head from Carthage to Buffalo, N. Y., on September 19, 1914. He alleges that through the negligence of the company nine head died. He demands a total $600 in both suits. Green is represented by John A. Tinsworth of this city and Jackson and Marsh of Newcastle.

that Vanatta had lived in his present location for the past fifteen years, with the exception of a short time. The defense maintained that Vanatta had a right to keep the liquor in his own home.

On cross-examination Roth was asked if Vanatta did not run a poker game for him and that he got a split in the winnings. Roth denied that there was any gambling in the building and stated that he did not run a poker game. He was also asked if the "south side" was not known as the "red light" district and that the men over there had purposely painted their flower tubs this summer in a red color to make the looks comply with the name. Roth also denied this, stating that red was the only color of paint they had at the time.

Prosecutor Stevens was assisted by John A. Tisworth. All of the evidence was submitted by eleven o'clock and the closing argument was delayed until one-fifteen this afternoon. The jury which heard the case was as follows:

L. H. Havens, Russell Barringer, El Jones, W. A. Caldwell, E. R. Casady, George Alexander, J. W. Hogsett, Glen Moore, Frank Sample, Alonzo Newhouse, W. E. Wallace and George Conard.

Amusements

Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, who produced those masterpieces, "Hypocrites" and "Scandal," have outdone themselves in "Jewell," a five-act photo-masterpiece, which comes to the Gem theater today.

"Jewell" is the story of a little girl with a wealth of golden hair who enters a Pasadena multimillionaire's home and transforms it by the radiations of love and faith which emanate from her big blue eyes. There are no murders or train wrecks in "Jewell," no death-bed agony scenes. Instead one feels that he has been permitted to view from behind a curtain the every day life of a family of gentle birth, with their own petty jealousies, their rancors and their heart burnings. If you are fire hardened by the blasts of a cruel world; if you think that a steam roller couldn't squeeze a tear out of you at your great grandfather's funeral—go to see "Jewell." It will be a revelation. It will show you that there is something worth while in this world and that that something is the soul of a child. "Jewell" bares that soul in as delightful a manner as one could wish for and in doing so it brings the "happy tears," as one woman expressed it.

The Princess will show the second installment of "Neal of the Navy" for the first picture tonight. Lillian Lorraine and William Courtleigh are featured in this beautiful serial story starting tonight. The other picture is a two act comedy "The Difference of Opinion." Joseph McDermott and Mary Maltesta are featured. Tomorrow night Charles Chaplin will be shown in his latest comedy success "Shanghai." It was while making this picture that Chaplin almost lost his life by drowning. The picture is said to be a scream from start to finish.

"The Juggernaut," a five-part picture, which will be at the princess Friday night, has plenty of thrills, according to the New York World. It tells a story of Philip Hardin, a dissipated, good-natured son of a millionaire, who forms a friendship with John Ballard, the son of a man killed by the railroad controlled by Hardin's father.

In a fight at gambling house, Hardin is rescued by Ballard. A blow struck by Ballard kills one of the gamblers. In the years that intervene Hardin steps into the control of his father's estate. Ballard becomes the District attorney of a large city. The two clash.

In quick succession there are gripping melodramatic scenes. The big climax shows a train wreck over a bridge, true in every detail save that it was specially staged by the Vitagraph people for this photoplay. It was this scene that cost a considerable sum to produce and almost caused the death of four actors last fall, rescued from the water after a real struggle with death.

TALKS ON THRIFT.

Saving and Swimming.

Saving is like swimming; once you get the "hang" of it it's easy, and you never forget how.

If you ever learn to swim it will be the result of two things; confidence and practice. No man can swim until he has confidence that the water will support him. This is absolutely essential. Until he gets this confidence he will be a "rope hanger," and never know the real exhilaration of bathing. He must then make certain motions with hands and feet, or lie perfectly still and he will float for an indefinite time. Getting confidence and learning the stroke, he will learn to swim as a child learns to walk, little by little one or two strokes at first, then a few more, and so on until he acquires proficiency, strength and endurance. And he will never forget how.

If you ever learn to save money, it will be through a similar process—confidence and practice. You must first trust something or somebody, or both. It may be an old tin box under a bed, the familiar teapot on the mantel, the parlor stove, a hole in the attic wall, or a corner under the carpet, but trust you must. You ought to trust a bank. When you get this confidence, you must do certain things, just as you learned to swim. You may begin timidly at first, with only a dollar—but many a bank account has begun with a dollar and ended with a thousand. As you become accustomed to banking your money rather than spending it as fast as you earn it (or faster), you will not be satisfied with small deposits—hanging on to the ropes as it were—but will want to see your account grow, attain a certain goal, as for instance a hundred dollars, just as the swimmer wants to swim across the lake, or to the diving board out in deep water.

As you form the saving habit, acquiring practice in the art of banking your money, this habit will develop the saving instinct and it will be as easy to save as it is to spend.

Once you acquire this saving instinct, you will never afterward be satisfied to waste your money. You may forget yourself for a time and lose your poise, but the saving instinct will come back strong, and you will have pangs of regret over every foolish waste of money. You will chafe at being in debt, and living beyond your means will have an ever present horror for you that will save you from many a later heartache.

You may be plunged overboard some dark night and your swimming instinct may save you. You may face a crisis in life some day, and if you get the saving habit you can face it serenely, knowing that you can take care of yourself until the skies clear. Once you acquire the saving habit it will be like swimming—easy when you get the knack, and you never forget how.

Stirred up a Mess

The appointment of Lowell H. Patterson, a Republican of Indianapolis, to a clerkship in the United States consulate at Johannesburg, South Africa, stirred up quite a mess in Indiana Democratic circles. Although the appointment was withdrawn before Mr. Patterson had a chance to sail for South Africa, it seems that he had the satisfaction of showing his friends that he could get an appointment under a Democratic administration.

Recently Mr. Patterson appeared at the state department in Washington and made known his desire for a consular position. He was referred to Wilbur J. Carr, Director of the Consular Service. Carr suggested that he had nothing that he felt like offering the Indianapolis man; that there was a place just then open, however, in the Johannesburg

Consulate, but that he did not believe that it would suit Mr. Patterson, as the salary was small and inadequate to meet the expense.

Patterson, it is stated, replied that he had means and would like to consider the matter. Being satisfied that he was capable of filling the post with satisfaction Mr. Carr, following the usual course, referred the matter to the Indiana Senators. It happened that Senator Kern was in the city at the time.

Under the circumstances, the place being a clerkship in a far away Consulate, at a salary that would not attract the ordinary men, Senator Kern waived his ordinary inclination to consent only to the appointment and gave his approval.

But it seems that "Jawn" had not calculated on what the irate Indiana Democrats of Indiana would think. Makes no difference if it was an insignificant post out in the wilds which offered no inducements, not even a decent salary, Hoosier followers of the donkey were not going to stand by and watch a Republican carry off any laurels. Anyway Mr. Kern "heard from home" and the Indianapolis man's trip across the water was deferred until he pays his own passage.

For Instance

"In what way asks," the Houston "Post," "can the Republicans attack the Democratic tariff? What do they know about its virtues or defects?"

This is no troublesome conundrum. It is ridiculously easy. Republicans can attack the Democratic tariff by telling the truth about it. And as for what they know about its defects, it would take an entire issue of this paper to summarize it.

For instance, we know that in the first eight months that the Democratic tariff was in operation our imports increased $114,000,000 and our customs revenues decreased $36,000,000.

We know that our imports of raw materials for manufacturing increased $34,000,000, and that even with the war our imports in these lines are $33,000,000 more than they were under Republican tariff.

We know that our importations of foodstuffs jumped up $88,000,000, that practically all of it came in free of duty, and that—even during the war—the increase was maintained.

We know that, in the first eight months of the Democratic tariff, our exports fell off $204,000,000 and that our farmers had to see a shrinkage in their foreign sales of $57,000,000.

We Republicans know a lot about the defects of the Democratic tariff and before the next session of Congress is over and before the next campaign is over, the Houston "Post" will be given the benefit of our knowledge.

At The Huskin's.

A typical American trait is the desire to get something for nothing. The old time festival of corn husking illustrates it. This function has somewhat gone out of fashion where modern machinery is used. But these hilarious old time frolics were an efficient machine for performing a toilsome task for farm work, and they are still common in many rural localities.

Uncle Reuben has been worrying about his corn field. Farm help or expert huskers cost high.

Removing the husks by the old time method is a sneezing, stuffy job.

The boys cough pathetically to show how it would injure their throats and lungs.

Some rural genius discovered that by getting the young people together, those husks could magically be stripped, merely for a little treat of sandwiches, apples, and cider.

The young folks "have no kick coming." The boys get free the society of pretty girls. There are frequent tips contingent on red ears, which the forces of nature always mysteriously provide in abundance. Of course it isn't work. Under these circumstances, good healthy corn dust never hurt anyone. The young people, as well as the farmer, get something for nothing.

Holding The Bag

Yes, you unquestionably have a right to buy your goods wherever you choose. No one will question that for a moment. And if you have a good horse sale for a reasonable price your neighbors and friends have an equal right to pass you by and send away for some scrawny scrub that costs just as much and is not half as valuable as yours. Holding the bag is great sport, isn't it? But you wouldn't like it, would you?

How much an acre can you get for that farm, or how much can you realize on your house and lot in town? Fair price, eh? Well, just suppose every store in this town should be suddenly closed up and moved away, what would your farm or town property bring on the market then? Your own intelligence tells you that the nearer a piece of property is to live and prosperous town the more valuable that property becomes. Now, just why do you try to kill off the life and prosperity of this town and reduce the value of your own holdings by sending your money out of town for goods you can buy just as cheaply at home? Perhaps you can see some wisdom in such a course, but we can not, and we have viewed the question conscientiously from every angle.

EDIT GAL 2

On the morning of election day the Houston "Post" remarked: "Democratic success in electing legislatures in New York and New Jersey and the State tickets in Maryland and Massachusetts would tend to encourage democratic hopes of easy sailing in the next national contest, as the country as a whole would be inclined to accept the result as indirectly voicing its satisfaction with democratic administration of public affairs." In view of this the corollary is that Democratic hopes of easy sailing have gone glimmering.

A correspondent asks what has become of the old fashioned boy who used to walk three miles to school to get an education. Well, just now he is sitting on a rock at the cross roads waiting for the transportation wagon to take him half a mile to the school house.

Having offered valuable criticism of the way war relief and other charity work is carried on, many people feel that they should be relieved from contributing any money.

In view of the protests of our government against interference with our commerce, it is believed that the warring powers will let hymn-books be exported as not contraband.

EDIT GAL 3

Many prayers for peace are being offered in the churches but, no one has as yet been heard praying for the health of the European kings.

From the looks of the new evening gowns in the back, it would seem as if the war had caused a great shortage of dress material in this country.

Some men will kick because their wives allowed the house to get chilly, when they want to sit down comfortably and read about the poor fellows freezing in the French trenches.

The United States military and naval forces may not be prepared for war, but they are always prepared for the next election.

The sight of the lambs again getting sheared of their fleece in the stock market seems to give confidence to the business community.

Every little helps. The town elections held in Rhode Island November 2 went sweepingly Republican.

Here's Where The Fun Comes In

A. B. Irvin has a little granddaughter three and half years old of whom he is very proud. She is the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kiser of St. Louis. Last Friday Mr. Kiser had to make a business trip to Louisville and he left by a night train.

That night as the little girl was tucked away in her bed and as she folded her hands preparatory to offer her prayer, Mrs. Kiser suggested that she should pray to God for the safe return of her father.

"Oh, the porter will take care of him," was the way the little tot dismissed that suggestion.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Reflection on Mexico.
(From America.)

We have shuddered at the revolting tales that have come from many parts of Europe. Of the devilry set loose by Carranza and his following of the unspeakable cruelty of venerable priests and consecrated virgins; of the wholesale debauching of Mexican womanhood; of these things we have been permitted to hear nothing. Only within the last few months has the American press, which boasts its liberty to speak the truth without fear and without favor, been allowed to present a faint picture of the hell that has been let loose on Mexico during the last eighteen months.

Now we know something, a little at least, of what that hell has meant. We have heard the pitiful stories of broken hearted mothers whose daughters have been ravished before their very eyes and in the public streets by officers of the Carranzista mobs, mis-called armies. A little, but only a little, has been said in our free press of the horrors which men and women who have spent their whole lives in the service of God and their fellows have been forced to undergo. Of churches polluted in a fashion which only the most degraded of savage could conceive; of orphanages, schools, colleges wantonly destroyed; a reign of pillage and despotism under the banner of liberty and equality; of these things we have at last been permitted to know something.

All will not be well. And why? Because a liar has promised henceforth to tell the truth, a murderer that will no longer imbrue his hands with the blood of women and children, a wanton destroyer that he will forever devote his toiling days and sleepless nights to the peaceful up-building of his unhappy country. And the pledge, the guarantee, that these things will be done? Nothing, nothing whatever, beyond the word of a villain.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Indiana Historical Commission.)
Indiana on the Eve of Rebellion.

In concluding a dark portrayal of the conditions in Indiana in 1861, Folke says:

"Her treasury bankrupt, her credit poor, frauds everywhere, no money, no arms, no ammunition, no militia, except on paper—a legislature with a formidable minority reluctant and revolutionary having the power and will to stop even the most useful measures on defense—such was the condition of the state when the most gigantic war in American history broke out and demanded resources and energy for which prosperous times and undivided patriotism would seem barely sufficient. But the will and the intellect of the great war governor were equal to the emergency."

EFFORT TO RIDE BOTH ENTRIES

John W. Kern is Having Hard Time To Straddle Both Bryan and Wilson Programs.

REVERSES SELF AT TIPTON

Anyone Who Imagines "Peerless One" Hasn't a Following in Indiana Has Another Guess.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 17.—About the most interesting spectacle that has been seen on the Indiana political stage in many and many a day is the heroic effort that our old friend "Jawn" Kern has been making recently to ride both the Wilson and the Bryan entry in the national Democratic handicap. One is headed one way and the other is moving in an opposite direction but this does not seem to deter Senator "Jawn" in the least. However, the bitter but ineffective opponent of 40-cent bacon will sooner or later realize what every one else knows and that is that such a thing cannot be done and he who persists in such a course is due for a fall. In the end, "Jawn" will have to make a choice—he cannot follow both Bryan and Wilson for the very simple reason that they are not going in the same direction. There are faint indications that Kern is beginning to realize that he is in a very ticklish situation; that he is in reality between the devil and a hot rock.

The question of national preparedness is bothering Kern. When this matter first came up Kern promptly took a "stand" against preparedness—a real positive stand, or evidently that is what he thought it was. A little later President Wilson announced that he favored activity along this line and without any hesitation whatever Bryan took issue with the president in a vigorous manner and has since made it plain that he intends to fight the president in a vigorous manner and has since made it plain that he intends to fight the president's plan to a finish. At once Kern began to hesitate. At first his favorite method in his public discussion of this subject was to decry the report that there was any serious difference between Wilson and Kern but as the days went by Kern realized that he was only making a sorry spectacle of himself by making such a contention. Of late he has been trying to ride the two entries, headed in opposite directions, but it will not be long before he will have to make a choice.

Some weeks ago congregation of good Quaker people in the Sixth district asked Kern to define his position on the question of preparedness. The senator promptly informed them that he was strenuously opposed to this policy. What would you suppose would be his answer now if the same question was asked him?

The other night up at Tipton Kern reversed himself to the extent that he says he now favors a policy of preparedness providing it is not all done in one year. He seems to think he favors preparedness providing the necessary work is strung out over five or six years. Some statesman, eh?

Anyone who imagines for a minute that Bryan has not a large following among Indiana Democrats has another guess coming. Among ordinary Democrats Bryan is still the dominating figure in the Democratic party at the time he was when he forced the Democratic bosses to accept Wilson as the nominee at Baltimore in 1912. Bryan is still the implicable foe of his party's bosses that he was three years ago but how about Wilson? Of late Wilson has been making long eyes at Charles Murphy, the notorious boss of Tammany Hall, and Roger Sullivan, the Illinois boss, against whom Bryan has waged unrelenting warfare for years. Bryan has pursued a consistent course but can that much be said of Wilson?

Here in Indiana, since Bryan took his firm stand against Wilson's policy, Bryan's admirers have been becoming bolder and bolder as the days go by and the Bryan tribe is steadily increasing.

Just one little instance, will suffice to show the temper of the Indiana admirers of Bryan. A number of Democrats were gathered on a street corner in one of the county seats of the Fifth district discussing politics. Of course, the subject of the Wilson-Bryan quarrel came up for consideration.

"I understand that Congressman Moss has announced that he intends to stand by Wilson in this controversy," remarked one of the group.

"Moss don't dare tell me that," was the answer of another of the group and his sentiment was echoed with a chorus of "Me too." The man who took exceptions to the congressman's attitude is one of the strongest Democrats in the Fifth district—one whose words of advice are always according respectful attention by Democrats seeking preferment at the hands of their party.

The possibilities for embarrassment of Kern in the discussion of this subject on the stump next year, in event that he is nominated by his party to succeed himself, are simply great. The fight between Wilson and Bryan may become so bitter that it will become necessary for Kern to resort to unusual methods. It has been suggested that it might be wise for local committees, when they bill Kern for a public address, to take the precaution of having a partition installed right down the middle of the hall in which the wobbling senator is to speak. The speaker might send his trusty secretary, Claudie Bowers, ahead with instructions to station himself at the door of the auditorium and see to it that the Democrats who turned out once more to hear, for about the ninety-ninth time, Kern make his pleas for votes for himself, were properly classified. Those who classed themselves as Wilson supporters could be stunted into one side of the hall while the Bryan backers could be ushered into the other side. Kern then could appear before the Wilson side and make a speech, knowing that he would not be subjected to any great embarrassment. He could get behind Wilson's preparedness plan with vigor and enthusiasm.

In fact, he could go the limit in his support to the president. He could leave a very fine impression on that side and make his way to the Bryan wing of the auditorium with his ears filled with the sounds of the wild applause in the Wilson end. Standing before the Bryan section, the wobbling senator could again make a very favorable impression, giving the president's policies and most vigorous whack and at the same time praising his old side partner, Bill Bryan to the skies. This plan should work admirably from Kern's standpoint providing always that there was no chance for him to lose his bearings with the result that he made his Bryan speech on the Wilson side and his Wilson speech on the Bryan side. The chances of embarrassment along this line could be reduced to a minimum providing large placards bearing the names of Wilson and Bryan were placed in a prominent place above the stage in their proper division of the public auditorium.

The idea is passed along to Kern and his managers for what it is worth. Something will have to be done, brothers, as the Wilson-Bryan fight, promises to go the limit during the next few months. Forewarned is forearmed always.

CLAIM RATE IS TOO HIGH

Kokomo Officials Declare Insurance on New Building is Extortionate.

(By United Press.)

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 16.—School officials here are much wrought up over what they think are extortionate rates being charged for insurance on the new high school building. An effort will be made to convince the state fire insurance rating bureau that Kokomo is being made to suffer unfair discrimination. The rate is said to be higher than any like structure and that the rate is fully twice as high as the character of the risk warrants, officials charge.

Local insurance agents admit that the rate of $1.06 per hundred is very high and are going to assist the board in having it lowered if possible.

SPECIAL JUDGES ON BENCH TODAY

Damage Suit For $1,000 is Dismissed and Argument in Appraisalment Case is Heard.

CHANGE OF VENUE IS ASKED

Judge Raymond Springer of Connersville was here this morning hearing the argument in the case of the Fairview Burying Grounds Association against Emery N Vandeventer, Bernice Vandeventer and Mary Durbin. The petition asked that some land be appraised. The evidence was submitted last Saturday and the argument was postponed. Judge Springer took the case under advisement.

John A. Tittsworth, acting as special judge in the absence of Judge Will M. Sparks, this morning dismissed the case of Joseph and Edward Schneider against William and Harry Wainwright, on motion of the plaintiffs. The case was an action for damages, demanding $1,000 and was sent to this county on a change of venue. The sensational damage suit of Bertha Brickert against Samuel Overleese will not be heard in this court. A motion was filed this morning for a change of venue. The plaintiff alleges that she could not get a fair trial here. Judge Tittsworth did not take any action on the motion.

A compromise, for the time being, in the troubles of Robert Hardin and his one time mother-in-law Mrs. Margaret Glendenning, prevented the hearing yesterday afternoon of the temporary receivership proceedings against Hardin. Under the terms of the agreement, it is understood, he is to be permitted to use the horses and gather the corn.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold. Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF, ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot"—and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia, Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

WOMEN WANT IN PRESS GALLERY

Are Demanding Privileges of Other Correspondents This Winter During Congress

COMPROMISE IS IN SIGHT

Feature Writers Expected to "Cover" Appearances of Mrs. Galt Are The Cause of Trouble

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The woman's rights question is causing dissension in the ranks of the Washington newspaper correspondents' corps. The demand of women newspaper writers for the privileges of the press galleries of Congress is the subject of hot debate. The women have threatened to appeal, to Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark.

While the petticoat line has not been drawn against woman writers, only woman heretofore has enjoyed the privileges of the galleries. Because of the necessity of "covering" the appearances of Mrs. Norman Galt and the President, women society reporters, feature and magazine as well as "legitimate" newspaper correspondents, have demanded that they be given seats in the reserved press sections.

A compromise in sight today, advanced by the standing committee of correspondents governing admission to the press senate, is that a section of seats in the Senate and House public galleries be set off for women writers this will leave the working rooms still available practically for men only.

600 GROWERS AT POTATO SHOW

Largest Exhibition of Its Kind in World Opens at Marinette, Wisconsin Today

MANY PREMIUMS OFFERED

Hospital Under Direction of Government Attracts Attention—Cooking Also Discussed

(By United Press.)

Marinette, Wis., Nov. 17.—The world's greatest potato show opened here today with 600 growers and shippers attending. It is the annual exhibit and gathering of the Wisconsin State Potato Growers' association.

Last year's show was pronounced the biggest ever held in America by experts from the United States department of agriculture and there are more than twice as many entries this year. About $1,000 in cash premiums will be awarded. The two largest halls in Marinette are being used for the exhibit.

A potato hospital, conducted by the government department of agriculture in which potato diseases are diagnosed and treatment prescribing is attracting a great deal of attention. Various ways of cooking potatoes are being demonstrated by the Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Wisconsin devotes 300,000 acres to commercial potato growing. It has become one of the biggest cash crops in the state. One grower to day told of realizing $250 an acre from his 12 acre field near Marinette.

DISAPPEARANCE IS FULL OF MYSTERY

Many Wierd Stories Told Regarding

Friend of President Wilson Lost in Mountains

MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED

(By United Press.)

Denver, Colo., Nov. 17.—Swallowed up in the fastness of the Rocky Mountains and long ago given up as dead, the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Thornton R. Sampson of Austin, Texas, has become today a part of the lore of these historic hills. Explanations of his accidentally having lost his way and perished from starvation have weakened under the most thorough searches.

The wierdest of many wierd stories is that Rev. Sampson was murdered by a hermit in the hills above Estes. The Texan himself, in one of his last letters to his wife, mentioned a "queer companion." Dr. Sampson was a friend of President Wilson's. Snow has fallen over the section of the range in which he was lost and experienced mountaineers hold out no hope that he will ever be found alive.

GARY PUTS IN BID FOR TITLE

High School Team Claims Football Championship of State by Reason of Record

HAS BEATEN ALL COMERS

Elkhart Also Has Good Team no Chance Now For Teams of South to Meet Those of North

By CARL O. DENNEWITZ

(Written for United Press.)

Gary, Ind., Nov. 17.—Indiana is ap against it for a champion high school football team this year. There are plenty claimants for the title but how the question is going to be decided is something else again.

When Gary won from South Bend by a score of 19 to 0, on October 30, Hammond still remained in the road as an obstacle to Gary's claims to the championship of Northern Indiana. The Gray and Gold team, playing the best game in the high school's history, preceeded to remove Hammond on November 6 by a 0 to 0 tie, and Gary staged a celebration that would have befitted the winning of a national title.

But on the same day Elkhart took the strong Goshen team over 33 to 0 and in so doing, laid claim to the Northern sectional championship. Obviously the title must go to the team that scores the most points against South Bend. Elkhart plays the Bride City, but not until Nov. 20 and a game after that date would be out of the question.

Assuming however, that Elkhart will do better than break even with South Bend, Gary has already challenged any team that may have established a claim to the downstate title. Playing the best game that has been seen on high school fields in many a day, the team is anxious to go to its limit for football honors. With a team built around Chuck Harris and Ken Kneisley, two of the cleverest backs that have been seen in the state, Harrison Briggs, the giant coach, has developed what experts, who have watched the team in action, call a genuine college football. Briggs believes his team is of state championship material and is ready to make a clean test of it.

NECESSARY TO DRAIN ROADS

Department of Agriculture Points
Out That They Should be Kept
Dry in Winter

When Thaw is Anticipated it is Always Best to See That All
The Ditches Are Open

(By United Press.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—If a road is kept dry in winter, road specialists in the Department of Agriculture says cold weather will do it little or no harm. A dry road will not "heave," as it is called. Rock, gravel, sand even clay contract slightly on freezing. Water, expands when it freezes and a wet road will burst in cold weather just as a water pipe or pitcher will burst when the water is allowed to freeze.

To keep roads in good condition through the winter, the first essential is to see that drainage is good. All ditches must be opened, accumulations of weeds and grass removed, and the surface gone over to smooth out possible water holes. This work should be done early in the fall while the ground is still dry and hard.

After fall rains begin an earth or gravel road should be filled. Whenever a thaw is anticipated the cross drains and side ditches should be opened. If the road is softened, the drag should be used and the slush and melting snow removed.

Has Faith in Quick Remedy for Catarrh

Johnson's Drug Store Guarantees
That Hyomei Will Relieve The
Worst Cases of Catarrh in Rushville.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Rushville guarantees that a medicine will produce benefit or they will refund the money, it speaks volumes for the merits of that remedy. It is in this way that Johnson's Drug Store is selling Hyomei, the treatment that has helped so many cases of both acute and chronic catarrh in Rushville and vicinity.

Hyomei is not a pill nor is it a spray or a lotion that must be rubbed in. It is an oil, the air of which you just breathe in your nose, throat and lungs by the aid of an inhaler that comes with every outfit. Benefit will usually be seen from the very first treatment.

This air destroys all germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with the additional ozone it supplies. It banishes catarrh of the head and throat and respiratory organs. Wherever these mucous membranes contain catarrhal germs, there Hyomei will do its work of healing.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks treatment.

Remember that if Hyomei does not relieve you Johnson's Drug Store will refund your money.

WARNINGS OF PUNISHMENT

(By United Press.)
London, Nov. 17.—Frequent food riots in Berlin with threats from the authorities that the ring leaders will be shot if the disorders are continued are reported in Copenhagen dispatches today.

The smashing of shop windows and looting by throngs of the needy in the German capital are of daily occurrence the report stated.

Warnings of punishment have been placarded throughout the city by the ministry of the interior. Besides death for the leaders, long sentences are threatened for the participants.

The Expression of Many a Kidney Sufferer in Rushville.

A stubborn backache is cause to suspect kidney trouble. When the kidneys are inflamed and swollen, stooping brings a sharp twinge in the back, that almost takes the breath away. Doan's Kidney Pills revive sluggish kidneys—relieve aching backs. Here's Rushville proof:

Taylor M. Loyd, 940 West Third St., Rushville says: "My back ached steadily and at times was so weak that I could hardly be about. The kidney secretions were again too seldom. I used about four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Fox Bros., Drug Store, and they did just as recommended, relieving me in a short time."

PINE MOTHS IS KILLING TREES

In Caterpillar stage it is Doing Extensive Damage to Yellow Pine
in the West.

SHOULD BE KILLED IN WINTER

Woodpeckers Are Also Help in Destroying These Pests—Eggs Laid in July.

(By United Press.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Tree owners should be interested to know what the Zimmerman pine moth in its caterpillar stage is the cause of extensive damage to yellow pine in the West and to other pine in the East. This damage, can be greatly reduced by care in selecting defective trees after cutting.

Spike-topped, lightning struck, gnarly-branched pines are most likely to be infested. Great numbers of caterpillars hibernate in them. These brood trees should be cut and burned before spring, otherwise—the moths, hatching from the caterpillars, will destroy younger and healthier trees.

If the brood trees are cut, the small number of caterpillars probably will be destroyed by woodpeckers. As an instance of the value of this method: A woodlot in Montana covered 40 acres and 25 per cent. of the second growth had been infested for several seasons. After three overmature trees had been cut further damage ceased. In another locality 3,000 second growth trees were infested each year. A survey showed that cutting 24 brood trees in a stand of 1,000 would end the trouble.

The Zimmerman caterpillar bores under the bark of the pine, kills portions of the trees, and causes pitch deposits in the wood. These make the timber fit only for commercial use. The eggs are laid mostly during July. The proper time to destroy the insect is in the winter.

far as possible and that the thirty cent rate will be as low as could be hoped for and because of this the compromise would be timely. No action was taken by the council. The report on the proposed compromise was made by Councilman Flint, as chairman of the gas committee.

Mr. Stiers maintained that the hydrant was cracked at the base before he hit it with the machine. There was some doubt about the condition of the fire plug and the bill was made even $21.

ONLY FOR WAR VETERANS

Honorably Discharged Soldiers Must Have Hunting License.

It is understood that there is some misundestand of the hunting license law regarding soldiers. The statute says veterans of Mexican and civil wars only are allowed to hunt without a license. It does not mean that a soldier who has been honorably discharged shall be allowed that privilege. Several war veterans have taken advantage of that section which allows them to go in quest of game without planking down for the license.

liquor should be sold in the building for ten years. The drunkard drinks to satisfy his appetite, she went into partnership with the saloon to satisfy her greed.

"Paul and Silas were scourged and their feet made fast in the stocks. As they sang and prayed at midnight an earthquake shook open the prison doors and the sheriff, believing that the prisoners had escaped, which would mean disgrace and death for him, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, but Paul stopped him, preached Christ to him and he believed, was baptized and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house. The same hour of the night from suicide to salvation. All the conversions which are detailed in the Acts of the Apostles, follow the requirements of Christ's great commission. 'He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved.' Heathenism and infidelity advocates suicide. Demosthenes, when he learned that Alexander demanded his surrender, took poison. Isocrates killed himself rather than surrender to Philip of Macedon. Cato, rather than to submit to Caesar, took his life. Hannibal destroyed himself. Lycurgus took his own life, as did Brutus.

"Napoleon made an attempt upon his life by taking preparation of opium and only the best medical skill resuscitated him. Defaulters, domestic victims, the remorseful, the destitute have resorted to suicide. King Saul fell on his sword and Judas hanged himself. A man is insane who commits suicide or he will be held in eternity as a murdered and, 'No murderer shall see the Kingdom of Heaven.'

"After the publication of Tom Payne's Age of Reason there was an alarming increase of suicides. A young man killed himself in one of the parks of New York, and a newspaper clipping containing Ingersoll's defense of suicide was found in his pocket. Only christianity places an inestimable value on life. David Hume, the skeptic, loaned his essay defending suicide to a friend who read it, wrote a letter of thanks and admiration and shot himself.

"Christ can save to the uttermost. Why do not despairing men accept Him? Why suffer the torments of the lost when happiness is so near. We judge roots by the gorgeous blossoms and the purple clusters; the life of the scorn is proved in the glory of Lebanon and Christ and christianity are to be judged by the transformed lives which have been redeemed all over the earth.

"Hearts possessed of devils, are healed and their crying anguish hushed. Only Christ can 'Pluck from memory a rooted sorrow, Raze out the written troubles of the brain, And with love's sweet oblivious antidote Cleanse the stuffed bosom from the perilous stuff That weighs upon the heart."

"Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace; thereby good shall come unto thee," was the text of the Rev. Mr. Jamieson at the U. P. church Tuesday night. It was selected from Job, 22:21. He spoke in part as follows:

"This language implies that the natural or unconverted man is ignorant of God. He believes in the existence of God, as does almost every other enlightened, rational being, for even the demons believe and tremble. We all know of the existence of many people whom we do not know. The unconverted man has no acquaintance with God, is ignorant of his real character, holds erroneous views with regard to Him, 'for the carnal mind is iniquity against God.'

"What is it to become acquainted with God? It is to come to know Him as friend. It is a crowning glory of the religion of the Bible, the true religion, that opens the possibility of friendship with God.

"To become the friend of God we must become reconciled to him through Jesus Christ, who has made atonement for sin. How this way of reconciling God and man through the sacrifice of Christ magnified the love of God! It is the privilege of everyone to become acquainted with God.

"What are the results of becoming acquainted with God? The first mentioned in peace. Real acquaintance with God brings peace of conscience. Being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

"The universal conscience of mankind is stricken with a curse of guilt. Alarmed by an instinctive sense of danger, men have left their need of reconciliation and under a sense of God's displeasure have everywhere and in all ages sought to make their peace with God. For this reason temples were built, sacrifices offered, penances endured. To appease angry divinities, heathen courts have resounded with the cries of the victims and their smoking altars have run red with blood. The peace which they blindly sought can only be obtained by becoming acquainted with God through faith in Jesus Christ.

"The second result mentioned in our text is good. Does this mean temporal blessing? Yes, so far as temporal things shall be for our real good. It means the supply of all our temporal needs.

"It means spiritual good, the pardon of sins, acceptance with God, membership in His family, support in trial, triumph in death. The assurance is that we shall have a part in the resurrection of the just and then an inheritance that is incorruptible, undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for us.

"No one was even injured by becoming acquainted with God. No with Him who was not made a better and happier man in this life and who shall not be crowned with immortal glory hereafter."

JURY STILL OUT IN VANATTACASE

Up to Late This Afternoon No Verdict Had Been Reached in "Bootlegging" Trial.

DISAGREEMENT SEEMS LIKELY

Witnesses Tell of Finding Gallon Jug of Whiskey in Rooms of Defendant Week Ago.

The jury in the case of the state against John Vanatta, charged with the illegal possession of liquor, was still out at four o'clock this afternoon and a disagreement seemed likely. The case was given to the jury at two-fifteen o'clock.

Vanatta was arrested last Saturday following disclosures made the Wednesday preceding when the police raided rooms of Newton and Ed Casey over Roth's pool room. In Vanatta's rooms, adjoining those of the Caseys, a gallon jug two-thirds full of whiskey was found. The evidence was completed before noon and the arguments heard this afternoon.

Charles Frank, agent for two express companies, was the first witness for the state. He told of numerous shipments to Vanatta. He stated that the packages weighing twelve and fifteen pounds were delivered to the Vanatta rooms and also that Vanatta called for some of the packages. It was brought out on cross-examination that as far as Frank knew the room occupied by Vanatta, over the Roth pool room, were Vanatta's home.

Chief Rosencrance told of the raid on the rooms of Newton Casey and of Vanatta. It was in this raid that the gallon jug, two-thirds full of whiskey, was found and which was introduced in evidence to the jury. Chief Rosencrance stated that there was more or less traffic up and down the stairs, but was unable to state whether the traffic led to the Casey rooms or to the Vanatta apartment.

Chief Rosencrance stated that he had known Vanatta for about two years and that in this time he had no regular occupation, although he understood that he was a common gambler. He told of the time Newton Casey was serving a sentence in jail and declared that traffic up and down the stairs continued just the same. On cross-examination it was stated that Eddie Casey, son of Newton Casey, occupied the rooms during the time his father was in jail. Chief Rosencrance also stated he had seen several men coming from the Vanatta rooms.

Marion Finney, driver for an express company, also testified for the state. He told of delivering packages to the Vanatta room. He stated that he never had witnessed any men drinking in the room. He estimated that he took twenty packages there in the last sixty days, but admitted that this was only a guess on his part.

M. V. Spivey, B. F. Miller and Thomas M. Green testified as to Vanatta's occupation. Mr. Spivey, stated that he knew very little about him and as far as he knew Vanatta was not employed. B. F. Miller did not even know Vanatta. T. M. Green stated that Vanatta was not employed and had the reputation of being a gambler.

The defense introduced only one witness, that being August Roth proprietor of the pool room and renter of the room occupied by Vanatta. He testified that Vanatta was employed by him in his pool room at a salary of $5 a week and that he was given his room rent free. He stated that the room rent went in as part of his salary. Mr. Roth testified

Harry Weaver, Living Northeast of Falmouth, Sustains Painful and Dangerous Injury Today.

ARM IN PLASTER PARIS CAST

Harry Weaver, living northeast of Falmouth, sustained a painful and dangerous injury to his left arm this morning when it was accidentally caught in the knives of a corn shredder. The flesh was torn and lacerated from the elbow to the wrist, but no bones were broken. The attending physicians have hope of saving the arm and this afternoon placed it in a plaster paris cast. Weaver was shredding the corn at his own home. He is a well known farmer, being about thirty years old.

This is the first corn shredder accident of the season reported in Rush county. Clarence Hamilton lost three fingers when his hand caught in a corn shredder Tuesday afternoon while he was working on a farm north of Connersville.

LOCAL ALLOTMENT OF SEALS IS 50,000

It was announced today by Dr. W. S. Coleman, president of the Rush County Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, that Rush county's allotment of Red Cross Christmas Seals this year would be fifty thousand. The sale will be started all over the United States immediately after Thanksgiving.

If Rush county is enthusiastic enough about the efforts being made to stamp out tuberculosis to purchase fifty thousand of the little stickers, $500 will be realized from the sale and seventy-five per cent of the sum, or $375, will be for use in the anti-tuberculosis work in the county. It has not been determined yet who will be in charge of the sales in the various divisions of the county.

City Council Passes Two Ordinances Designed to Stop Traffic in "Dry" Rushville.

LICENSE FOR BREWERY AGENT

Second Measure Provides Fee Shall be Paid by Traveling Salesmen, Selling Liquor.

A new thing in the way of "dry" legislation was passed last night by the city council when two ordinances fixing a license fee for brewery agents and whiskey salesmen were introduced and passed under suspension of rules. One ordinance applies to resident agents and the other to the transient.

The first is "an ordinance to license distilleries, breweries and depots or agencies established in the City of Rushville by a distillery or brewery, or any person, persons, firm or corporation engaged in selling intoxicating liquors, fixing the license fee and providing penalties for the violation thereof." Under this ordinance the license fee is established at $500 a year and anyone found guilty of violating the ordinance shall pay the sum of $250 for each offense.

The ordinance provides that any such distillery, brewer, person, persons, firm or corporation desiring to establish, maintain or keep such agency, agent, depot, person, persons, firm or corporation in such city, shall make written application to the mayor and the application must be accompanied by the $500.

The second ordinance aims at the traveling salesmen and solicitors and is "an ordinance prohibiting the soliciting and taking orders for spirituous, vinous, malt or intoxicating liquors without first having procured a license therefor, prescribing the manner and method of procuring license, and providing penalties for violation thereof."

In this ordinance the license fee is established at $25 and the penalty is placed at $25 for each and every day the ordinance is violated.

Both ordinances were passed without any discussion and they will become laws as soon as published two weeks as provided by law. The first publication was today. It was stated to the council that the ordinances were believed to be constitutional and in case a fight is made on the two laws the city will back its contention in the courts. The new ordinances are aimed to stop the shipment of intoxicating liquors into the city. The council hardly hopes to collect a cent from the ordinances, but will curb the handling of intoxicants.

Talk of a compromise between the city and the two gas companies in the matter of rates was heard last night. The Public Service Commission has established the rates of both the Peoples Gas Company and the Central Fuel company at thirty cents a thousand cubic feet. Under the terms of the proposed compromise the city is to accept this rate and amend the present ordinances governing the two companies to read thirty cents a thousand cubic feet instead of fifteen cents.

T. M. Green, appearing before the council and speaking for the Peoples company, stated that this arrangement would be satisfactory and in turn the city was to drop all litigation against the gas companies and the Public Service commission. Mr. Green stated that the Peoples company would sign a written agreement to accept the amended ordinance to the company.

The city officials believe that they have fought the gas rate increasing

Serenity of Conscious Comes Through Knowing God, Declares Evangelist at U. P. Church

FOUR ADDITIONS AT CHRISTIAN

J. H. O. Smith Says Some Men's Business Depend Upon Number of Devil-Possessed People

Peace of mind comes only through acquaintance with God, the way of reconciliation being by Jesus Christ, was the declaration of the Rev. S. R. Jamieson, the evangelist who is conducting the meetings at the United Presbyterian church. He spoke Tuesday night on the theme, "Acquaintance With God." He defined becoming acquainted with God as knowing Him as a friend. He said the average man believed in the existence of God, but that was acquaintance.

"What we Think of Christ" will be topic of the sermon by the Rev. Mr. Jamieson tonight. A continuation of a presentation of the "precious things" of the Epistles of Peter, started Tuesday afternoon, was the program this afternoon.

The revival at the First Baptist church will in reality be closed Sunday night, but no more services will be held this week after Thursday night. There was a very good attendance last night, but no more additions were reported.

The Rev. J. H. O. Smith, evangelist at the Main Street Christian church, will speak tonight on the subject, "What Shall I Answer God?" The singing evangelist, the Rev. H. H. Saunders, will sing, "Nothing But Leaves."

There were four more converts at the Christian church Tuesday night. The numbers of additions in the revival which has been in progress little more than a week is now thirty-four. The auditorium of the church was crowded Tuesday night.

"Saved From Suicide," was the topic of the Rev. J. H. O. Smith at the Christian church last night. He said:

"There was a Divination corporation in Philippi. A poor devil-possessed girl was their source of revenue. She followed Paul and Silas, crying out 'These men are servants of the Most High God who show unto us the way of salvation.' Paul cast the devil out of her. The divination syndicate saw that the source of their game was gone and they scorned the arrest of Paul and Silas upon the charge that they were troubling the city.

"There are men whose prosperity depends upon the number of devil-possessed people there in the community where they do business. The gospel of Christ always makes trouble for devils and bad men. Jesus cast some demons out of a man and the authorities requested Him to leave. The devils had gone into some hogs and the hogs committed suicide. In that community a hog had more value than a man.

"The divination combine at Philippi lost the hope of gain when the devil went out of the girl. Two million boys are needed, every five years, in America to keep the liquor business going, and yet there are men who say that to vote liquor out will ruin business. A big brewer was asked what about the boys? He replied, 'To hell with the boys.' I say to hell with any business that damns men for time and eternity. I know a woman who was prominent in church and society circles who rented property in which a saloon was kept who refused to sign a lease stipulating that no

Chicago Officials Will Investigate if Infant Whose Life May be Saved by Operation Dies.

DOCTOR REFUSES TO OPERATE

(By United Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 17.—An official police investigation with possibly subsequent action by state authority, will be made if the defective baby of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bollinger dies without an operation.

This was decided upon this afternoon at a conference attended by Chief of Police Tealey, Coroner Peter Hassman, Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson and Assistant Corporation Counsel Clifford Rowe.

Counsel Rowe filed that there is no law by which officials can force physicians to operate on the baby to save its life. He ruled, however, that Commissioner Robertson can refuse to issue a death certificate. Robertson said he would refuse the papers. In this event Coroner Hassman will be automatically compelled to investigate the child's death.

Dr. H. J. Haiselden, in charge of the case, upon being informed of possible official action reiterated his decision "to let nature take its course."

CAN'T HOLD OUT MORE THAN A DAY

Serb Town of Monastir is in Danger of Being Wiped Out by Advancing Bulgarians.

INHABITANTS ARE IN TERROR

By William G. Shepherd.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Salonica, Greece, Nov. 17.—The whole Serb population of the region about Monastir is fleeing before the coming Bulgarians. Monastir itself is being emptied rapidly. The refugees number thousands.

Wild terror of the Bulgars has spread among them by frightful stories from the country the invaders have already swept.

The prefect at Pilet, twenty-five miles north of Monastir, telegraphed with the enemy almost in the town's outskirts, that hundreds of girls had taken refuge there from the surrounding district after being subjected to violence by the Bulgars. Apparently they were about to fall again into the invaders' hands.

Monastir can hold out a day at the utmost; then it, too, will be doomed unless the allies arrive.

HER VIEWPOINT THAT OF MOTHER

Mrs. Stella C. Stimson Attacks Liquor Traffic From Standpoint of Love of Children.

TALKS TO TEMPERANCE FOLK

As Much as Mothers Crave Beauty, She Says, Their Love For Their Offspring Comes First.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—Liquor was attacked from the mother's standpoint of love of children and lover of beauty by Mrs. Stella C. Stimson, who addressed today the state temperance convention here.

When Mrs. Stimson—five feet tall and weighing all of 100 pounds— took the platform, there was a gasp of surprise from those who had not before seen her, but who knew her as the woman whose activity swung the delegates of the Federation of Clubs to Mrs. Clarke Fairbank of Fort Wayne for president, and who now is the subject of an attack throughout the state that promises to stagger and possibly disrupt the woman's Franchise league of Indiana. Only one other woman addressed the convention during its two-day sessions—Mrs. Calla J. Vayhinger, president of the W. C. T. U.

The speaker from Terre Haute did not refer to the opposition which is trying to force her from the board of the Franchise League, and which she asserts is inspired by the non-church and the pro-liquor forces. She concluded with a plea to the Indiana fathers to vote at the primaries and at the election for legislature a state-wide prohibition law.

Mrs. Stimson termed the liquor business "ugly." She said it was not fully understood even by thoughtful men and women that woman's love of beauty in home and civic environment and for personal adornment is "as God-given as the sex impulse in a man."

"My own city's (Terre Haute) enormous liquor expenses—no larger than any other city's of its size—is estimated at $2,500,000 yearly. Imagine the beauty possible in a home life if this sum were spent in the Terre Haute stores for home furnishings and clothes."

But much as mothers crave beauty, the welfare of her children come first, said Mrs. Stimson. "Mothers want prohibition," she said, "because the health and morals of their sons and daughters are involved. They have been told that only the young men who have never touched liquor have perhaps escaped the defilement of the social evil. They want prohibition because it means less taxes for criminal court expenses and more money for better schools."

Palmyra, Pa.—"My little girl had a chronic cough and was so thin you could count her ribs and she had no appetite. Nothing we gave her seemed to help her, until one day Mrs. Neibert asked me to try Vinol, and now she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and has a more healthy color. ASKS $300 DAMAGES IN EACH OF TWO SUITS

Marshall Green Files Action Against Big Four Railroad, Alleging Loss in Live Stock.

ONE HOGS; OTHERS CATTLE

Marshall Green filed two damage suits against the Big Four railway this afternoon, demanding $300 in each case. One suit is based on the shipment of our car loads of cattle, numbering 59 head from Carthage to Chicago. It is alleged that because of the negligence of the railway company in delaying the shipment the cattle lost sixty pounds each in weight. This shipment is alleged to have been made August 29, 1914.

The other suit alleges practically the same thing, except that Green shipped a car load of hogs numbering 80 head from Carthage to Buffalo, N. Y., on September 19, 1914. He alleges that through the negligence of the company nine head died. He demands a total $600 in both suits. Green is represented by John A. Tittsworth of this city and Jackson and Marsh of Newcastle.

TWO ARMIES ARE TO FIGHT AS ONE

Hitherto Allied, French and British Troops Have Been Directed Separately.

AN INTER-ALLIES COUNCIL

Holds First Meeting Today and Will Be in Session as New Situations Arise.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Nov. 17.—The French and the British fighting forces are one tonight.

Hitherto allied, they have fought more or less independently. Henceforth they will be guided from a single source—the inter-allies war council.

Russia and Italy will join the combination as speedily as possible.

The Franco-British arrangement was perfected today. Present at this Munitions Minister Lloyd George, first council were Premier Asquith, First Lord of the Admiralty Balfour and Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey of England, and Premier Briand, War Minister Gallieni, Minister of Marine Lacaze and General Joffre of France.

The English group included three of the five members of the British inner war council of the cabinet. The French officials represented the corresponding branch posts. The conference began early today. This afternoon it was understood its work was completed so far as the co-ordination of the British and French armies' work is concerned. There must be subsequent meetings to deal with new situations.

Adjournment was taken subject to call.

that Vanatta had lived in his present location for the past fifteen years, with the exception of a short time. The defense maintained that Vanatta had a right to keep the liquor in his own home.

On cross-examination Roth was asked if Vanatta did not run a poker game for him and that he got a split in the winnings. Roth denied that there was any gambling in the building and stated that he did not run a poker game. He was also asked if the "south side" was not known as the "red light" district and that the men over there had purposely painted their flower tubs this summer in a red color to make the looks comply with the name. Roth also denied this, stating that red was the only color of paint they had at the time.

Prosecutor Stevens was assisted by John A. Tittsworth. All of the evidence was submitted by eleven o'clock and the closing argument was delayed until one-fifteen this afternoon. The jury which heard the case was as follows:

L. H. Havens, Russell Barringer, El Jones, W. A. Caldwell, E. R. Casady, George Alexander, J. W. Hogsett, Glen Moore, Frank Sample, Alonzo Newhouse, W. E. Wallace and George Conard.

Amusements

Lois Weber and Phillips Smalley, who produced those masterpieces, "Hypocrites" and "Scandal," have outdone themselves in "Jewell," a five-act photo-masterpiece, which comes to the Gem theater today.

"Jewell" is the story of a little girl with a wealth of golden hair who enters a Pasadena multimillionaire's home and transforms it by the radiations of love and faith which emanate from her big blue eyes. There are no murders or train wrecks in "Jewell," no death-bed agony scenes. Instead one feels that he has been permitted to view from behind a curtain the every day life of a family of gentle birth, with their own petty jealousies, their rancors and their heart burnings. If you are fire hardened by the blasts of a cruel world; if you think that a steam roller couldn't squeeze a tear out of you at your great grandfather's funeral—go to see "Jewell." It will be a revelation. It will show you that there is something worth while in this world and that that something is the soul of a child. "Jewell" bares that soul in as delightful a manner as one could wish for and in doing so it brings the "happy tears," as one woman expressed it.

The Princess will show the second installment of "Neal of the Navy" for the first picture tonight. Lillian Lorraine and William Courtleigh are featured in this beautiful serial story starting tonight. The other picture is a two act comedy "The Difference of Opinion." Joseph McDermott and Mary Maltesta are featured. Tomorrow night Charles Chaplin will be shown in his latest comedy success "Shanghai." It was while making this picture that Chaplin almost lost his life by drowning. The picture is said to be a scream from start to finish.

"The Juggernaut," a five-part picture, which will be at the princess Friday night, has plenty of thrills, according to the New York World. It tells a story of Philip Hardin, a dissipated, good-natured son of a millionaire, who forms a friendship with John Ballard, the son of a man killed by the railroad controlled by Hardin's father.

In a fight at gambling house, Hardin is rescued by Ballard. A blow struck by Ballard kills one of the gamblers. In the years that intervene Hardin steps into the control of his father's estate. Ballard becomes the District attorney of a large city. The two clash.

In quick succession there are gripping melodramatic scenes. The big climax shows a train wreck over a bridge, true in every detail save that it was specially staged by the Vitagraph people for this photoplay. It was this scene that cost a considerable sum to produce and almost caused the death of four actors last fall, rescued from the water after a real struggle with death.

TALKS ON THRIFT.

Saving and Swimming.

Saving is like swimming; once you get the "hang" of it it's easy, and you never forget how.

If you ever learn to swim it will be the result of two things; confidence and practice. No man can swim until he has confidence that the water will support him. This is absolutely essential. Until he gets this confidence he will be a "rope hanger," and never know the real exhilaration of bathing. He must then make certain motions with hands and feet, or lie perfectly still and he will float for an indefinite time. Getting confidence and learning the stroke, he will learn to swim as a child learns to walk, little by little one or two strokes at first, then a few more, and so on until he acquires proficiency, strength and endurance. And he will never forget how.

If you ever learn to save money, it will be through a similar process—confidence and practice. You must first trust something or somebody, or both. It may be an old tin box under a bed, the familiar teapot on the mantel, the parlor stove, a hole in the attic wall, or a corner under the carpet, but trust you must. You ought to trust a bank. When you get this confidence, you must do certain things, just as you learned to swim. You may begin timidly at first, with only a dollar—but many a bank account has begun with a dollar and ended with a thousand. As you become accustomed to banking your money rather than spending it as fast as you earn it (or faster), you will not be satisfied with small deposits—hanging on to the ropes as it were—but will want to see your account grow, attain a certain goal, as for instance a hundred dollars, just as the swimmer wants to swim across the lake, or to the diving board out in deep water.

As you form the saving habit, acquiring practice in the art of banking your money, this habit will develop the saving instinct and it will be as easy to save as it is to spend.

Once you acquire this saving instinct, you will never afterward be satisfied to waste your money. You may forget yourself for a time and lose your poise, but the saving instinct will come back strong, and you will have pangs of regret over every foolish waste of money. You will chafe at being in debt, and living beyond your means will have an ever present horror for you that will save you from many a later heartache.

You may be plunged overboard some dark night and your swimming instinct may save you. You may face a crisis in life some day, and if you get the saving habit you can face it serenely, knowing that you can take care of yourself until the skies clear. Once you acquire the saving habit it will be like swimming—easy when you get the knack, and you never forget how.

Stirred up a Mess

The appointment of Lowell H. Patterson, a Republican of Indianapolis, to a clerkship in the United States consulate at Johannesburg, South Africa, stirred up quite a mess in Indiana Democratic circles. Although the appointment was withdrawn before Mr. Patterson had a chance to sail for South Africa, it seems that he had the satisfaction of showing his friends that he could get an appointment under a Democratic administration.

Recently Mr. Patterson appeared at the state department in Washington and made known his desire for a consular position. He was referred to Wilbur J. Carr, Director of the Consular Service. Carr suggested that he had nothing that he felt like offering the Indianapolis man; that there was a place just then open, however, in the Johannesburg

Consulate, but that he did not believe that he would suit Mr. Patterson, as the salary was small and inadequate to meet the expense. Patterson, it is stated, replied that he had means and would like to consider the matter. Being satisfied that he was capable of filling the post with satisfaction Mr. Carr, following the usual course, referred the matter to the Indiana Senators. It happened that Senator Kern was in the city at the time.

Under the circumstances, the place being a clerkship in a far away Consulate, at a salary that would not attract the ordinary men, Senator Kern waived his ordinary inclination to consent only to the appointment and gave his approval.

But it seems that "Jawn" had not calculated on what the irate Indiana Democrats of Indiana would think. Makes no difference if it was an insignificant post out in the wilds which offered no inducements, not even a decent salary, Hoosier followers of the donkey were not going to stand by and watch a Republican carry off any laurels. Anyway Mr. Kern "heard from home" and the Indianapolis man's trip across the water was deferred until he pays his own passage.

For Instance

"In what way asks," the Houston "Post," "can the Republicans attack the Democratic tariff? What do they know about its virtues or defects?"

This is no troublesome conundrum. It is ridiculously easy. Republicans can attack the Democratic tariff by telling the truth about it. And as for what they know about its defects, it would take an entire issue of this paper to summarize it.

For instance, we know that in the first eight months that the Democratic tariff was in operation our imports increased $114,000,000 and our customs revenues decreased $36,000,000.

We know that our imports of raw materials for manufacturing increased $34,000,000, and that even with the war our imports in these lines are $33,000,000 more than they were under Republican tariff.

We know that our importations of foodstuffs jumped up $88,000,000, that practically all of it came in free of duty, and that—even during the war—the increase was maintained.

We know that, in the first eight months of the Democratic tariff, our exports fell off $204,000,000 and that our farmers had to see a shrinkage in their foreign sales of $57,000,000.

We Republicans know a lot about the defects of the Democratic tariff and before the next session of Congress is over and before the next campaign is over, the Houston "Post" will be given the benefit of our knowledge.

At The Huskin's.

A typical American trait is the desire to get something for nothing. The old time festival of corn husking illustrates it. This function has somewhat gone out of fashion where modern machinery is used. But these hilarious old time frolics were an efficient machine for performing a toilsome task for farm work, and they are still common in many rural localities.

Uncle Reuben has been worrying about his corn field. Farm help or expert huskers cost high.

Removing the husks by the old time method is a sneezing, stuffy job.

The boys cough pathetically to show how it would injure their throats and lungs.

Some rural genius discovered that by getting the young people together, those husks could magically be stripped, merely for a little treat of sandwiches, apples, and cider.

The young folks "have no kick coming." The boys get free the society of pretty girls. There are frequent tips contingent on red ears, which the forces of nature always mysteriously provide in abundance. Of course it isn't work. Under these circumstances, good healthy corn dust never hurt anyone. The young people, as well as the farmer, get something for nothing.

Holding The Bag

Yes, you unquestionably have a right to buy your goods wherever you choose. No one will question that for a moment. And if you have a good horse sale for a reasonable price your neighbors and friends have an equal right to pass you by and send away for some scrawny scrub that costs just as much and is not half as valuable as yours. Holding the bag is great sport, isn't it? But you wouldn't like it, would you?

How much an acre can you get for that farm, or how much can you realize on your house and lot in town? Fair price, eh? Well, just suppose every store in this town should be suddenly closed up and moved away, what would your farm or town property bring on the market then? Your own intelligence tells you that the nearer a piece of property is to live and prosperous town the more valuable that property becomes. Now, just why do you try to kill off the life and prosperity of this town and reduce the value of your own holdings by sending your money out of town for goods you can buy just as cheaply at home? Perhaps you can see some wisdom in such a course, but we can not, and we have viewed the question conscientiously from every angle.

EDIT GAL 2

On the morning of election day the Houston "Post" remarked: "Democratic success in electing legislatures in New York and New Jersey and the State tickets in Maryland and Massachusetts would tend to encourage democratic hopes of easy sailing in the next national contest, as the country as a whole would be inclined to accept the result as indirectly voicing its satisfaction with democratic administration of public affairs." In view of this, the corollary is that Democratic hopes of easy sailing have gone glimmering.

A correspondent asks what has become of the old fashioned boy who used to walk three miles to school to get an education. Well, just now he is sitting on a rock at the cross roads waiting for the transportation wagon to take him half a mile to the school house.

Having offered valuable criticism of the way war relief and other charity work is carried on, many people feel that they should be relieved from contributing any money.

In view of the protests of our government against interference with our commerce, it is believed that the warring powers will let hymn-books be exported as not contraband.

EDIT GAL 3

Many prayers for peace are being offered in the churches but, no one has as yet been heard praying for the health of the European kings.

From the looks of the new evening gowns in the back, it would seem as if the war had caused a great shortage of dress material in this country.

Some men will kick because their wives allowed the house to get chilly, when they want to sit down comfortably and read about the poor fellows freezing in the French trenches.

The United States military and naval forces may not be prepared for war, but they are always prepared for the next election.

The sight of the lambs again getting sheared of their fleece in the stock market seems to give confidence to the business community.

Every little helps. The town elections held in Rhode Island November 2 went sweepingly Republican.

"Oh, the porter will take care of him," was the way the little tot dismissed that suggestion.

Reflection on Mexico.

(From America.)

We have shuddered at the revolting tales that have come from many parts of Europe. Of the devilry set loose by Carranza and his following of the unspeakable cruelty of venerable priests and consecrated virgins; of the wholesale debauching of Mexican womanhood; of these things we have been permitted to hear nothing. Only within the last few months has the American press, which boasts its liberty to speak the truth without fear and without favor, been allowed to present a faint picture of the hell that has been let loose on Mexico during the last eighteen months.

Now we know something, a little at least, of what that hell has meant. We have heard the pitiful stories of broken hearted mothers whose daughters have been ravished before their very eyes and in the public streets by officers of the Carranzista mobs, mis-called armies. A little, but only a little, has been said in our free press of the horrors which men and women who have spent their whole lives in the service of God and their fellows have been forced to undergo. Of churches polluted in a fashion which only the most degraded of savage could conceive; of orphanages, schools, colleges wantonly destroyed; a reign of pillage and despotism under the banner of liberty and equality; of these things we have at last been permitted to know something.

All will not be well. And why? Because a liar has promised henceforth to tell the truth, a murderer that will no longer imbrue his hands with the blood of women and children, a wanton destroyer that he will forever devote his toiling days and sleepless nights to the peaceful up-building of his unhappy country. And the pledge, the guarantee, that these things will be done? Nothing, nothing whatever, beyond the word of a villain.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Indiana Historical Commission.)
Indiana on the Eve of Rebellion.

In concluding a dark portrayal of the conditions in Indiana in 1861, Folke says:

"Her treasury bankrupt, her credit poor, frauds everywhere, no money, no arms, no ammunition, no militia, except on paper—a legislature with a formidable minority reluctant and revolutionary having the power and will to stop even the most useful measures on defense—such was the condition of the state when the most gigantic war in American history broke out and demanded resources and energy for which prosperous times and undivided patriotism would seem barely sufficient. But the will and the intellect of the great war governor were equal to the emergency."

EFFORT TO RIDE BOTH ENTRIES

John W. Kern Is Having Hard Time To Straddle Both Bryan and Wilson Programs.

REVERSES SELF AT TIPTON. Anyone Who Imagines "Peerless One" Hasn't a Following in Indiana Has Another Guess.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 17.—About the most interesting spectacle that has been seen on the Indiana political stage in many and many a day is the heroic effort that our old friend "Jawn" Kern has been making recently to ride both the Wilson and the Bryan entry in the national Democratic handicap. One is headed one way and the other is moving in an opposite direction but this does not seem to deter Senator "Jawn" in the least. However, the bitter but ineffective opponent of 40-cent bacon will sooner or later realize what every one else knows and that is that such a thing cannot be done and he who persists in such a course is due for a fall. In the end, "Jawn" will have to make a choice—he cannot follow both Bryan and Wilson for the very simple reason that they are not going in the same direction. There are faint indications that Kern is beginning to realize that he is in a very ticklish situation; that he is in reality between the devil and a hot rock.

The question of national preparedness is bothering Kern. When this matter first came up Kern promptly took a "stand" against preparedness—a real positive stand, or evidently that is what he thought it was. A little later President Wilson announced that he favored activity along this line and without any hesitation whatever Bryan took issue with the president in a vigorous manner and has since made it plain that he intends to fight the president in a vigorous manner and has since made it plain that he intends to fight the president's plan to a finish. At first his favorite method in his public discussion of this subject was to deny the report that there was any serious difference between Wilson and Kern but as the days went by Kern realized that he was only making a sorry spectacle of himself by making such a contention. Of late he has been trying to ride the two entries, headed in opposite directions, but it will not be long before he will have to make a choice.

Some weeks ago congregation of good Quaker people in the Sixth district asked Kern to define his position on the question of preparedness. The senator promptly informed them that he was strenuously opposed to this policy. What would you suppose would be his answer now if the same question was asked him?

The other night up at Tipton Kern reversed himself to the extent that he says he now favors a policy of preparedness providing it is not all done in one year. He seems to think he favors preparedness providing the necessary work is strung out over five or six years. Some statesman, eh?

Anyone who imagines for a minute that Bryan has not a large following among Indiana Democrats has another guess coming. Among ordinary Democrats Bryan is still the dominating figure in the Democratic party at the time he was when he forced the Democratic bosses to accept Wilson as the nominee at Baltimore in 1912. Bryan is still the implacable foe of his party's bosses that he was three years ago but how about Wilson? Of late Wilson has been making long eyes at Charles Murphy, the notorious boss of Tammany Hall, and Roger Sullivan, the Illinois boss, against whom Bryan has waged unrelenting warfare for years. Bryan has pursued a consistent course but can that much be said of Wilson?

Here in Indiana, since Bryan took his firm stand against Wilson's policy, Bryan's admirers have been becoming bolder and bolder as the days go by and the Bryan tribe is steadily increasing. Just one little instance, will suffice to show the temper of the Indiana admirers of Bryan. A number of Democrats were gathered on a street corner in one of the county seats of the Fifth district discussing politics. Of course, the subject of the Wilson-Bryan quarrel came up for consideration.

"I understand that Congressman Moss has announced that he intends to stand by Wilson in this controversy," remarked one of the group. "Moss don't dare tell me that," was the answer of another of the group and his sentiment was echoed with a chorus of "Me toos." The man who took exceptions to the congressman's attitude is one of the strongest Democrats in the Fifth district—one whose words of advice are always according respectful attention by Democrats seeking preferment at the hands of their party.

The possibilities for embarrassment of Kern in the discussion of this subject on the stump next year, in event that he is nominated by his party to succeed himself, are simply great. The fight between Wilson and Bryan may become so bitter that it will become necessary for Kern to resort to unusual methods. It has been suggested that it might be wise for local committees, when they bill Kern for a public address, to take the precaution of having a partition installed right down the middle of the hall in which the wobbling senator is to speak. The speaker might send his trusty secretary, Claudie Bowers, ahead with instructions to station himself at the door of the auditorium and see to it that the Democrats who turned out once more to hear, for about the ninety-ninth time, Kern make his pleas for votes for himself, were properly classified. Those who classed themselves as Wilson supporters could be stunted into one side of the hall while the Bryan backers could be ushered into the other side. Kern then could appear before the Wilson side and make a speech, knowing that he would not be subjected to any great embarrassment. He could get behind Wilson's preparedness plan with vigor and enthusiasm.

In fact, he could go the limit in his support to the president. He could leave a very fine impression on that side and make his way to the Bryan wing of the auditorium with his ears filled with the sounds of the wild applause in the Wilson end. Standing before the Bryan section, the wobbling senator could again make a very favorable impression, giving the president's policies and most vigorous whack and at the same time praising his old side partner, Bill Bryan, to the skies. This plan should work admirably from Kern's standpoint providing always that there was no chance for him to lose his bearings with the result that he made his Bryan speech on the Wilson side and his Wilson speech on the Bryan side. The chances of embarrassment along this line could be reduced to a minimum providing large placards bearing the names of Wilson and Bryan were placed in a prominent place above the stage in their proper division of the public auditorium.

The idea is passed along to Kern and his managers for what it is worth. Something will have to be done, brothers, as the Wilson-Bryan fight, promises to go the limit during the next few months. Forewarned is forearmed always.

CLAIM RATE IS TOO HIGH

Kokomo Officials Declare Insurance on New Building is Exorbitant.

(By United Press.)

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 16.—School officials here are much wrought up over what they think are extortionate rates being charged for insurance on the new high school building. An effort will be made to convince the state fire insurance rating bureau that Kokomo is being made to suffer unfair discrimination. The rate is said to be higher than any being charged in the state on any like structure and that the rate is fully twice as high as the character of the risk warrants, officials charge. Local insurance agents admit that the rate of $1.06 per hundred is very high and are going to assist the board in having it lowered if possible.

CHANGE OF VENUE IS ASKED

Judge Raymond Springer of Connersville was here this morning hearing the argument in the case of the Fairview Burying Grounds Association against Emery N. Vandeventer, Bernice Vandeventer and Mary Durbin. The petition asked that some land be appraised. The evidence was submitted last Saturday and the argument was postponed. Judge Springer took the case under advisement.

John A. Tittsworth, acting as special judge in the absence of Judge W. M. Sparks, this morning dismissed the case of Joseph and Edward Schneider against William and Harry Wainwright, on motion of the plaintiffs. The case was an action for damages, demanding $1,000 and was sent to this county on a change of venue. The sensational damage suit of Bertha Brickert against Samuel Overleese will not be heard in this court. A motion was filed this morning for a change of venue. The plaintiff alleges that she could not get a fair trial here. Judge Tittsworth did not take any action on the motion.

A compromise, for the time being, in the troubles of Robert Hardin and his one-time mother-in-law Mrs. Margaret Glendenning, prevented the hearing yesterday afternoon of the temporary receivership proceedings against Hardin. Under the terms of the agreement, it is understood she is to be permitted to use the horses and rather the corn.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it. Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

WOMEN WANT IN PRESS GALLERY

Are Demanding Privileges of Other Correspondents This Winter During Congress

COMPROMISE IS IN SIGHT

Feature Writers Expected to "Cover" Appearances of Mrs. Galt Are The Cause of Trouble

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.) Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The woman's rights question is causing dissension in the ranks of the Washington newspaper correspondents' corps. The demand of women newspaper writers for the privileges of the press galleries of Congress is the subject of hot debate. The women have threatened to appeal, to Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark.

While the petticoat line has not been drawn against woman writers, only woman heretofore has enjoyed the privileges of the galleries. Because of the necessity of "covering" the appearances of Mrs. Norman Galt and the President, women society reporters, feature and magazine as well as "legitimate" newspaper correspondents, have demanded that they be given seats in the reserved press sections.

A compromise in sight today, advanced by the standing committee of correspondents governing admission to the press senate, is that a section of seats in the Senate and House public galleries be set off for women writers this will leave the working rooms still available practically for men only.

600 GROWERS AT POTATO SHOW

Largest Exhibition of Its Kind in World Opens at Marinette, Wisconsin Today

MANY PREMIUMS OFFERED

Hospital Under Direction of Government Attracts Attention—Cooking Also Discussed

(By United Press.) Marinette, Wis., Nov. 17.—The world's greatest potato show opened here today with 600 growers and shippers attending. It is the annual exhibit and gathering of the Wisconsin State Potato Growers' association.

Last year's show was pronounced the biggest ever held in America by experts from the United States department of agriculture and there are more than twice as many entries this year. About $1,000 in cash premiums will be awarded. The two largest halls in Marinette are being used for the exhibit.

A potato hospital, conducted by the government department of agriculture in which potato diseases are diagnosed and treatment prescribing is attracting a great deal of attention. Various ways of cooking potatoes are being demonstrated by the Wisconsin college of agriculture. Wisconsin devotes 300,000 acres to commercial potato growing. It has become one of the biggest cash crops in the state. One grower today told of realizing $250 an acre from his 12 acre field near Marinette.

DISAPPEARANCE IS FULL OF MYSTERY

Many Wierd Stories Told Regarding Friend of President Wilson Lost in Mountains

MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED

(By United Press.) Denver, Colo., Nov. 17.—Swallowed up in the fastness of the Rocky Mountains and long ago given up as dead, the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Thornton R. Sampson of Austin, Texas, has become today a part of the lore of these historic hills. Explanations of his accidentally having lost his way and perished from starvation have weakened under the most thorough searches.

The wierdest of many wierd stories is that Rev. Sampson was murdered by a hermit in the hills above Estes. The Texan himself, in one of his last letters to his wife, mentioned a "queer companion." Dr. Sampson was a friend of President Wilson's. Snow has fallen over the section of the range in which he was lost and experienced mountaineers hold out no hope that he will ever be found alive.

GREEKS AND FRENCH CLASH

Latter Withdraw and "Pretend" it Was a Mistake.

(By United Press.) Berlin, Nov. 17.—Greek and French troops have clashed at Salonika, Vienna dispatches announced today.

French tried to occupy a Greek ammunition tower and were forcibly prevented from doing so by the Greeks. Later the French authorities apologized, "pretending" the affair was a mistake.

GARY PUTS IN BID FOR TITLE

High School Team Claims Football Championship of State by Reason of Record

HAS BEATEN ALL COMERS

Elkhart Also Has Good Team no Chance Now For Teams of South to Meet Those of North

By CARL O. DENNEWITZ (Written for United Press.) Gary, Ind., Nov. 17.—Indiana is up against it for a champion high school football team this year. There are plenty claimants for the title but how the question is going to be decided is something else again.

When Gary won from South Bend by a score of 19 to 0, on October 30, Hammond still remained in the road as an obstacle to Gary's claims to the championship of Northern Indiana. The Gray and Gold team, playing the best game in the high school's history, preceeded to remove Hammond on November 6 by a 0 to 0 tie, and Gary staged a celebration that would have befitted the winning of a national title.

But on the same day Elkhart took the strong Goshen team over 33 to 0 and in so doing, laid claim to the Northern sectional championship. Obviously the title must go to the team that scores the most points against South Bend. Elkhart plays the Bride City, but not until Nov. 20 and a game after that date would be out of the question.

Assuming however, that Elkhart will do better than break even with South Bend, Gary has already challenged any team that may have established a claim to the downstate title. Playing the best game that has been seen on high school fields in many a day, the team is anxious to go to its limit for football honors. With a team built around Chuk Harris and Ken Kneisley, two of the cleverest backs that have been seen in the state, Harrison Briggs, the giant coach, has developed what experts, who have watched the team in action, call a genuine college football. Briggs believes his team is of state championship material and is ready to make a clean test of it.

NECESSARY TO DRAIN ROADS

Department of Agriculture Points
Out That They Should Be Kept
Dry in Winter

When Thaw is Anticipated it is Always Best to See That All
The Ditches Are Open

(By United Press.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—If a road is kept dry in winter, road specialists in the Department of Agriculture says cold weather will do it little or no harm. A dry road will not "heave," as it is called. Rock, gravel, sand even clay contract slightly on freezing. Water, expands when it freezes and a wet road will burst in cold weather just as a water pipe or pitcher will burst when the water is allowed to freeze.

To keep roads in good condition through the winter, the first essential is to see that drainage is good. All ditches must be opened, accumulations of weeds and grass removed, and the surface gone over to smooth out possible water holes. This work should be done early in the fall while the ground is still dry and hard.

After fall rains begin an earth or gravel road should be filled. Whenever a thaw is anticipated the cross drains and side ditches should be opened. If the road is softened, the drag should be used and the slush and melting snow removed.

Has Faith in Quick Remedy for Catarrh

Johnson's Drug Store Guarantees
That Hyomei Will Relieve The
Worst Cases of Catarrh in Rushville.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Rushville guarantees that a medicine will produce benefit or they will refund the money, it speaks volumes for the merits of that remedy. It is in this way that Johnson's Drug Store is selling Hyomei, the treatment that has helped so many cases of both acute and chronic catarrh in Rushville and vicinity.

Hyomei is not a pill nor is it a spray or a lotion that must be rubbed in. It is an oil, the air of which you just breathe in your nose, throat and lungs by the aid of an inhaler that comes with every outfit. Benefit will usually be seen from the very first treatment.

This air destroys all germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with the additional ozone it supplies. It banishes catarrh of the head and throat and respiratory organs. Wherever these mucous membranes contain catarrhal germs, there Hyomei will do its work of healing.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks treatment.

Remember that if Hyomei does not relieve you Johnson's Drug Store will refund your money.

PINE MOTHS IS KILLING TREES

In Caterpillar stage it is Doing Extensive Damage to Yellow Pine
in the West.

SHOULD BE KILLED IN WINTER

Woodpeckers Are Also Help in Destroying These Pests—Eggs Laid
in July.

(By United Press.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Tree owners should be interested to know what the Zimmerman pine moth in its caterpillar stage is the cause of extensive damage to yellow pine in the West and to other pine in the East. This damage, can be greatly reduced by care in selecting defective trees after cutting.

Spike-topped, lightning struck, gnarly-branched pines are most likely to be infested. Great numbers of caterpillars hibernate in them. These brood trees should be cut and burned before spring, otherwise the moths, hatching from the caterpillars, will destroy younger and healthier trees.

If the brood trees are cut, the small number of caterpillars probably will be destroyed by woodpeckers. As an instance of the value of this method: A woodlot in Montana covered 40 acres and 25 per cent. of the second growth had been in fested for several seasons. After three overmature trees had been cut further damage ceased. In another locality 3,000 second growth trees were infested each year. A survey showed that cutting 24 brood trees in a stand of 1,000 would end the trouble.

The Zimmerman caterpillar bores under the bark of the pine, kills portions of the trees, and causes pitch deposits in the wood. These make the timber unfit for commercial use. The eggs are laid mostly during July. The proper time to destroy the insect is in the winter.

PEACE IS RESULT OF ACQUAINTANCE

liquor should be sold in the building for ten years. The drunkard drinks to satisfy his appetite, she went into partnership with the saloon to satisfy her greed.

"Paul and Silas were scourged and their feet made fast in the stocks. As they sang and prayed at midnight an earthquake shook open the prison doors and the sheriff, believing that the prisoners had escaped, which would mean disgrace and death for him, he drew his sword and was about to kill himself, but Paul stopped him, preached Christ to him and he believed, was baptized and rejoiced, believing in God with all his house. The same hour of the night from suicide to salvation. All the conversions which are detailed in the Acts of the Apostles, follow the requirements of Christ's great commission. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved. Heathenism and infidelity advocates suicide. Demosthenes, when he learned that Alexander demanded his surrender, took poison. Isocrates killed himself rather than surrender to Philip of Macedon. Cato, rather than to submit to Caesar, took his life. Hannibal destroyed himself. Lysurgus took his own life, as did Brutus.

"Napoleon made an attempt upon his life by taking preparation of opium and only the best medical skill resuscitated him. Defaulters, domestic victims, the remorseful, the destitute have resorted to suicide. King Saul fell on his sword and Judas hanged himself. A man is insane who commits suicide or he will be held in eternity as a murderer and, 'No murderer shall see the Kingdom of Heaven.'

"After the publication of Tom Payne's Age of Reason there was an alarming increase of suicides. A young man killed himself in one of the parks of New York, and a newspaper clipping containing Ingersoll's defense of suicide was found in his pocket. Only Christianity places an inestimable value on life. David Hume, the skeptic, loaned his essay defending suicide to a friend who read it, wrote a letter of thanks and admiration and shot himself.

"Christ can save to the uttermost. Why do not despairing men accept Him? Why suffer the torments of the lost when happiness is so near. We judge roots by the gorgeous blossoms and the purple clusters; seeds are vindicated in their flowers; the life of the scorn is proved in the glory of Lebanon and Christ and christianity are to be judged by the transformed lives which have been redeemed all over the earth.

"Hearts possessed of devils, are healed and their crying anguish hushed. Only Christ can

"Pluck from memory a rooted sorrow,

Raze out the written troubles of the brain,

And with love's sweet oblivious antidote

Cleanse the stuffed bosom from the perilous stuff

That weighs upon the heart."

"Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace; thereby good shall come unto thee," was the text of the Rev. Mr. Jamieson at the U. P. church Tuesday night. It was selected from Job, 22:21. He spoke in part as follows:

"This language implies that the natural or unconverted man is ignorant of God. He believes in the existence of God, as does almost every other enlightened, rational being, for even the demons believe and tremble. We all know of the existence of many people whom we do not know. The unconverted man has no acquaintance with God, is ignorant of his real character, holds erroneous views with regard to Him, 'for the carnal mind is iniquity against God.'

"What is it to become acquainted with God? It is to come to know Him as friend. It is a crowning glory of the religion of the Bible, the true religion, that opens the possibility of friendship with God.

"To become the friend of God we must become reconciled to him through Jesus Christ, who has made atonement for sin. How this way of reconciling God and man through the sacrifice of Christ magnified the love of God! It is the privilege of every one to become acquainted with God.

"What are the results of becoming acquainted with God? The first mentioned in peace. Real acquaintance with God brings peace of conscience. Being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.

"The universal conscience of mankind is stricken with a curse of guilt. Alarmed by an instinctive sense of danger, men have left their need of reconciliation and under a sense of God's displeasure have everywhere and in all ages sought to make their peace with God. For this reason temples were built, sacrifices offered, penances endured. To appease angry divinities, heathen courts have resounded with the cries of the victims and their smoking altars have run red with blood. The peace which they blindly sought can only be obtained by becoming acquainted with God through faith in Jesus Christ.

"The second result mentioned in our text is good. Does this mean temporal blessing? Yes, so far as temporal things shall be for our real good. It means the supply of all our temporal needs.

"It means spiritual good, the pardon of sins, acceptance with God, membership in His family, support in trial, triumph in death. The assurance is that we shall have a part in the resurrection of the just and then an inheritance that is incorruptible, undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for us.

"No one was even injured by becoming acquainted with God. No with Him who was not made a better and happier man in this life and who shall not be crowned with immortal glory hereafter."
